

Heather Carr is currently a Research Associate III in Baxter's Microbiology Laboratory Operations team. Current responsibilities include biological indicator production and certification, bioburden/sterility test method validations (final product and API), and other various microbiology laboratory functions.

Heather has been an active PDA Midwest Chapter Board Member since 2022.

Heather has a B.S. degree in Biological Sciences from the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater.